There can be no doubt from my message to Supt. Forest of 12th October that it was my intention to inform Ministers of the Security Service's involvement. That this was not done immediately was due to the simple fact that Jean-Pierre Goyer was not available.

A general election had been called to take place on Monday October 30th, 1972 and the Minister was busy electioneering in Quebec from early October until early November.

My personal appointments book for the period (which again by chance was not destroyed) shows I saw the Minister at 10:30 A.M. on October 3rd but that I did not see him in the period between the 10th of October and the 18th of October

Incidentally, my absence for these purposes at that time had been specifically approved by the Minister sometime in advance.

I did not return to Ottawa until the weekend of period.

My appointments book does not show a meeting with the Minister on November 3rd. I suspect the reason he had done so and was unequivocal in his conclusion. Was it reasonable for me to doubt his conclusions? The RCMP did not tell Quebec Justice Minister stated bluntly that no police force was involved; it was thus clear to me that the RCMP was not involved in the incident. I had no reason to suspect

I never discovered why I was considered a likely candidate. Apart from having a relative of the same name who had been Commissioner of the RCMP in the 1920's, I had had little to do with the Force except on the intelligence and security side of its work.

This led to my being involved closely with the Security and Intelligence Directorate of the RCMP.

A couple of hours later I was asked to go to Gordon Robertson's office, adjacent to the room in which the Cabinet usually meets in the East Block. In due course, I was led into the Cabinet room through a connecting door to find myself
